Maitreyi College came into existence in 1967 to impart higher education to women. Our college is an integral part of the federal structure of the University of Delhi. Named after Maitreyi, an eminent scholar, philosopher and sage of the Vedic period, the vision of the college embodies the spirit of its namesake – the relentless pursuit of knowledge irrespective of the social determinants of identity such as gender, caste, class among others. It symbolizes an exemplary balance between tradition and modernity i.e. the ability to be open to new ideas while being rooted in one's own systems of thought and practice. Consequently, we have tirelessly worked towards establishing and continuing the tradition of achievements in academics, sports, social and cultural activities that makes us who we are.
